REVIEWER OF FINAL CIVIL WAR BATTLE TALKS BY FRIENDS OF CONFEDERATE MEN.

C. R. Brantley, of Bay Minette, Ala., and other friends of the cause, held a public hearing at the home of Mr. J. H. Brantley, on Tuesday night, for the purpose of reviewing the final battle of the Civil War. The speaker was Mr. J. H. Brantley, who is a well-known Confederate sympathizer.

Mr. Brantley spoke for about an hour, and his talk was well received. He spoke of the many hardships which the Confederate soldiers had to endure, and of the courage which they displayed in the face of death.

He also spoke of the many wrongs which were done to the Confederate soldiers after the war, and of the need for a fair and just settlement of the claims of the Confederate soldiers.

Mr. Brantley's talk was well received, and the audience was much interested. It was a most interesting and profitable meeting.
